STATUS OF THE APPLICATION

1. This Office action is in response to the Amendment and Remarks filed on 22 August 2005.
2. The Supplemental IDS filed on 22 August 2005 has been considered, a signed copy is attached hereto.
3. Those rejections not specifically addressed in this Office action are withdrawn in view of Applicant's amendments to the claims.
4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Election/Restrictions

5. After reconsideration of the restriction requirement mailed on 30 December 2004 requiring Applicant to elect one nucleic acid sequence, the Examiner has withdrawn the requirement because a search of one of the specific sequences is sufficient to identify any prior art for any of the non-elected sequences given their high level of identity. Consequently Applicant's petition under 37 CFR § 1.144 is now considered moot.

Claim Objections

6. Claims 1 and 24 are objected to because of the following informalities: The language of the original claim 1 used means plus function, thus invoking 35 USC §112, sixth paragraph. As Applicant has now amended claim 1 to recite specific structures by which the means is carried out the claim no longer meets the requirements of 35 USC § 112, sixth paragraph. For the purposes of clarity, Applicant should delete the means plus function language and rewrite claims 1 and 24 as product-by-process to which they are now essentially directed. Appropriate amendments to claims 5 should also be made. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

7. Claims 1-7, 12, 17 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

At claims 1 and 22, the recited means for modulating mitochondrially generated acetyl-CoA is "a nucleic acid sequence incorporated into the plant's genome" operably linked to "a promoter". Since the listed species of sequences are from Brassica sp., and the means does not explicitly state that the nucleic acid sequence is isolated or recombinant and is incorporated by transformation, the metes and bounds of the claim are unclear since the claim could be read as any transgenic Brassica sp. that would have the means incorporated by a traditional breeding method wherein the nucleic acid sequence is an inherent property of said Brassica sp. Claims 3-7 are also indefinite because they do not obviate the indefiniteness of claim 1.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claims 3, 12 and 17 recite the broad recitation "members of the Graminae", and the claims also recite "corn...wheat, barley, rice, oat, sorghum, rye" which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Double Patenting

8. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

9. Claims 1,3-15 and 17-22 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 2-14, 16 and 18-24 of copending Application No.

Art Unit: 1638

10/222,075. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not yet been patented. The Examiner notes that a Notice of Allowability the claims of said copending application has been mailed to applicant.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the referenced copending application and would be covered by any patent granted on that copending application since the referenced copending application and the instant application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: the genetically transformed plant comprising an isolated nucleic acid and a promoter and method of making same in the instant application would be considered obvious in view of the isolated nucleic acid and genetically transformed plant of the copending application.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant would be prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application in the other copending application. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

This rejection is repeated for the reason of record as set forth in the last Office action mailed 21 April 2005. Applicant's arguments filed 22 August 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that a terminal disclaimer has been filed in the copending application (page 10 of the Remarks). This is not found to be persuasive because the issue is the extension of patent rights beyond that of the copending parent application. Applicant is required to timely file a terminal disclaimer in the instant application.

Conclusion

10. This Office action is non-final in view of the new ground of rejection not previously put forth by the Office.
11. The claim are free of the prior art which neither teaches nor make obvious the nucleic acid sequences of SEQ ID NOs 1-4.
12. No claims are allowed.
